

LUNN MAKES SPEECH IN SHERIFF'S CUSTODY

Socialist Mayor Wouldn't Give Ball at End of First Day of Trial.

THREE COMRADES JAILED

Lunn's Fellow Official, One of Them, Wires Appeal to Gov. Dix.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady, after nearly twenty-four hours confinement in the county jail at Herkimer, was taken to Little Falls this afternoon for examination on the charge of rioting preferred against him yesterday following his second arrest in Little Falls when he attempted to address striking employees of the Phoenix Mills.

The Socialist Mayor's examination was commenced at 4 o'clock and soon after 6 o'clock this evening an adjournment was taken until tomorrow. Only two witnesses against Lunn were sworn to today, Sheriff Moon of Herkimer county and Chief of Police Long of Little Falls.

They detailed the circumstances of the arrest of the Mayor and his seven companions in Clinton Park, where they were endeavoring to address the strikers in spite of the orders of the police not to. Mayor Lunn attempted several times to address the court, but Recorder Collins warned him against interrupting, rebuking him sharply on one occasion, after which the Mayor subsided and left the courtroom to his attorneys, James Berry and Frank Cooper of Schenectady.

Lunn was indignant at being thus shut off. After the adjournment of court he told Recorder Collins that several weeks ago he engaged to deliver an address to the strikers in Clinton Park, and that he was finally decided that Lunn should go to Fort Plains in the custody of Sheriff Moon and at the conclusion of his address should be returned to his cell in the Herkimer county jail.

The trip to Fort Plains was made in an automobile provided by Mayor Lunn. When Mayor Lunn applied for permission to speak at Fort Plains, District Attorney Frank A. Schmidt refused to give his consent to a parole. Sheriff Moon asked Dr. Lunn to furnish a personal bond for the privilege for Congress and inquired if some arrangement short of putting up a bail bond could be made for him to fill the engagement.

The court conferred with the District Attorney and it was finally decided that Lunn should go to Fort Plains in the custody of Sheriff Moon and at the conclusion of his address should be returned to his cell in the Herkimer county jail.

While the prisoners posed for a photographer the Rev. Mr. Bakeman started singing the "Marseillaise" and all joined in. Relieving the monotony of the sombre scene was a bit of paper over Mayor Lunn's cell with the words "Mayor George R. Lunn, Private Office." The prisoners escorted the newspaper men to the other side of the cell room to show where two of their number had slept last night, Deguerre and Lehaney. On the floor of the cell was written "Cheer Gillette." It was the cell the murderer had occupied until he was removed to Auburn Prison.

Before his departure for Fort Plain to-night Mayor Lunn issued an appeal to the public. It was prepared in jail by the prisoners and in part is as follows:

We, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, in confinement in a miserable jail because of our faith in the principle of the Constitution, amendment 1, that the right of free speech should not be abridged, call upon decent and honest citizens to express their views on other subjects, to join with us in our single demand that orderly and peaceful free speech be allowed in the city of Little Falls.

We believe that no progress in the way of social amelioration, or progress of any kind is possible without the right of free speech.

We recognize that men have the right to strike against intolerable industrial conditions. When they strike they do not abrogate their sacred rights as citizens. We are in this jail representatives of organized labor, both the American Federation of Labor and the Industrial Workers of the World. We have representatives of the Democratic party, Socialist party and one worker who is not a member of any party. Regardless of whether we are A. F. of L. members, I. W. W. members, or, as the case may be, members of no labor organization, whether we are members of one political party or no political party, we protest against the brutal treatment of the police and our absolutely unjust confinement.

We especially protest against the brutal arrest of Mayor George R. Lunn, who was guilty only of reading aloud an editorial.

The treatment we are receiving as citizens is the treatment of Russia, that the United States as we have always thought it to be. We indignantly protest against the arrest of men for quoting from Abraham Lincoln, reading from the Constitution of the United States and one of us for reading from the New Testament the word of Jesus.

The appeal is signed by the prisoners. Little Falls, Oct. 18.—The appeal of Mayor Lunn for permission to speak at Fort Plains in the custody of Sheriff Moon and at the conclusion of his address should be returned to his cell in the Herkimer county jail.

Falls. Those operatives in the Phoenix Mills would not join our United Textile Workers local in their city and as a result they are now in trouble. They are not union workers. Had they been there would doubtless have been no strike.

The trades assembly officer said that the I. W. W.'s are posing as martyrs and that Mayor Lunn in projecting himself into the cause of the non-union strikers was trying to become a martyr to the same cause.

At a meeting of the Socialists here to-night the women's committee announced that arrangements had been made to bring the children of the Little Falls strikers to this city to be cared for by Socialist families here until the strike is settled similar to the action taken in Lawrence, Mass.

ROBBERS FATALLY BEAT
AGED WOMAN AND MAID

Couple Found by Neighbors Unconscious on Floor of Brooklyn Home.

Mrs. Margaret Bell, 80 years old, and her maid, Mary Hogan, 48 years old, were found at 10 o'clock last night unconscious from many blows, supposedly administered by robbers, in the parlor of a two-story and basement house at 53 Fort Greene place, Brooklyn, where Mrs. Bell had lived for forty years.

Both women were sent to the Brooklyn Hospital. Mrs. Bell died there early this morning.

Charles Bell, the woman's son, was away from his home until late last evening and did not return until Mrs. Bell had been removed to the hospital. He refused to talk about the case.

Mrs. Bell was suffering from a compound fracture at the base of her skull and her head and face were terribly lacerated, as if by some sharp instrument. The maid's face and head were also severely cut.

The house had apparently been ransacked by burglars in a search for booty. Bureau drawers were on floors and their contents scattered about. Clothing from closets had been strewn about.

As Dr. William H. Johnson, a dentist, of 35 Fort Greene place, was returning home from the Hanson Place Methodist Church with his wife at 10 o'clock he heard groans issuing from the Bell house and went in to investigate. He found a number of neighbors at the street door.

The dentist went inside and found Mrs. Bell, who weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, stretched out on the parlor floor. Near her was the unconscious form of Miss Hogan.

The dentist was satisfied from a cursory examination of the rooms that the women had been beaten up by somebody who had apparently forced a way into the house.

About the same time as the dentist reached the house a woman telephoned to the hospital, and Dr. Hatfield arrived soon afterward with an ambulance.

The police soon took charge of the premises and denied newspaper men admission to the place. It was explained that they wanted to make a thorough examination before anything was disturbed, in order that possible clues to the assailants might be discovered.

Dr. Johnson said that he had known Mrs. Bell for a good many years. She very seldom went on the streets, he said, on account of her advanced age and great weight, which made travel difficult.

Mrs. Bell is known to have discharged a negro girl four weeks ago and hired Miss Hogan in her stead. Some of the policemen who went to work on the case suggested the possibility that the old woman and her maid may have been assaulted by friends of the discharged negro.

Mrs. Foster, a music teacher, lives in apartments above Mrs. Bell's rooms. She left the house at 8 o'clock last evening and did not return until after the double assault had occurred. Mrs. Foster said that before she went out she heard Mrs. Bell talking to a man. She did not see the man, however, and does not know whether he was white or black.

BULGARS CONCENTRATE TO ATTACK ADRIANOPLE

Severe Fighting to the East—
Advance to Frontier Towns on North.

MANY CLASHES REPORTED

Montenegrins Reported to Have Captured Positions Around Tarakach.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, Oct. 18.—Promptly upon the declaration of war Bulgaria has driven her troops on forced marches straight for Adrianople. She must first seize Mustapha Pasha, the key to the road to Adrianople, lying near the mountain pass from Bulgaria to Turkish soil, and she gained ground yesterday when she threw her troops into little Kurkale, facing Mustapha.

From many sources comes word of heavy fighting at Kirk-Kilisseh, to the east of Adrianople. There the Turks are said to have met the Bulgarian invasion and large forces are now engaged in battle.

While the Bulgars are whipping down to the south, their Serb allies are pushing toward Uskub. The Macedonian Serbs, says a report, have risen and are giving full aid to their intended liberators in destroying the miles of railroad between the Montenegrin army and the coast.

They are doing all they can to harry the Turks, blowing up bridges, cutting telegraph lines and tearing up rails.

While these operations are going on the Montenegrins are still striving for Scutari in the Albanian border country, and although there were reports of heavy losses on the side of the littlest of the allies they could not be verified.

As the Montenegrins are throwing their troops over the Turkish territory and already they have clashed with Turkish outposts in the neighborhood of Meluna Pass.

The Greek fleet has sailed southward from Athens. It is understood that it will aim to intercept Turkish transports en route to Asia Minor.

The Montenegrin Charge d'Affaires at Rome says that he has received a report that Gen. Martinovitch, in command of the Montenegrin army at Scutari, has captured all the hills that shadow Tarakach except the highest, which he was storming at the time the despatch was received. There are important Turkish fortifications at Tarakach equipped with the latest model German guns that would make this Turkish town an enviable prize.

Although they are shouting news of victories over the Turks in all the capitals of the little states, there seems so far to have few conflicts of moment, and it was a day of preparation for battle on both sides. Both sides accuse their enemies of razing villages, killing helpless women and children and similar atrocities, but the correspondents and war observers are still kept far from the front and the verification of these stories is practically impossible.

There runs a rumor through Cetina that a Turkish garrison at Berat, consisting of some seven thousand men, slunk off in the night, deserting their fortifications, while the victorious Montenegrins pressed them in pursuit.

Vienna hears that the Montenegrins have been defeated at Podgoritz, their base of supplies, and thus severely checked in their proposed advance on Scutari.

The Budapest office word that the Rumanian War Office ordered preparations for the mobilization of army corps to be ready in case of any decisive victory on the part of Bulgaria, a victory that Rumania would consider harmful to her interests.

The contagion of the Balkan trouble seems to have gone north, for a despatch from Warsaw says that revolutionaries and Socialists are working at all angles for violence, are organizing an uprising in Russian Poland.

The British Foreign Office was informed to-day that Bulgaria, Greece and Serbia had declared war against Turkey. Representatives of these countries handed notes telling of their reasons for such action.

These notes speak of the prevailing anarchy in Turkey which has disturbed the peace of the neighboring countries. They accuse Turkey of having failed to keep her promises of reforms in her provinces made originally thirty years ago. They say the little states can no longer bear the sufferings of their kindred in Turkey and that they are determined to alleviate the hardships of the Christians. Greece says that her aim "coincides with the interests of all civilized peoples."

MANY RUMORS IN BELGRADE.
Serbian Occupation of Pribrina Thought to Be False.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
BELGRADE, Oct. 18.—There are many rumors in circulation here to-night, but they are all untrue. It is reported that Serbian occupation of Pribrina in the vilayet of Kosovo is not confirmed, and it is questioned whether it would be physically possible even if the Serbians were not opposed.

is a just, a great and a sacred one. With the protection and support of the Almighty I bring to the people of the Bulgarian nation that this is a war for human rights. Order the brave Bulgarian army to march on to Turkish territory. Forward! May God be with you.

1,300 GREEKS OFF FOR HOME.

Hands Play and All Cheer in Order to Frighten Turks.

The Greek liner Themistocles, which was scheduled to sail Thursday with a complement of volunteers on their way home to the war, didn't get away until late yesterday afternoon. She then sailed with 1,300 Greeks, including 100 women and two children, and there was a band playing on the forward decks as she backed out into the stream.

All day long the gangway of the Themistocles was guarded and no one was allowed to go ashore for fear that the soldiers might turn up again, nor was any one allowed on board who might not be going back to fight for Greece. In the rear of the ship were well-to-do merchants who have sold out their businesses to go back and fight, and the wives of some of them whom they will leave behind in Athens, Piræus and southern cities while they go to the front.

For the benefit of a few that did manage to get aboard and off again a group collected on one of the forward hatches and executed a folk dance to the accompaniment of the great macedonian that is their favorite instrument of music. Many of them had spent the night aboard, expecting the vessel to sail Sunday, and they weren't particularly happy until chided by their friends to remember that it is all for Greece.

As fast as the steamers sail for Europe so fast do the reservists collect in the lower portions of the island, arranging for transportation home to fight. Although the Themistocles took out such a large contingent of warriors Bridge street in front of the Greek line's offices was swarming with Greeks yesterday afternoon.

PLAN UPRISING IN POLAND.

Russian Districts Urged to Act Following Balkan Crisis.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
VIENNA, Oct. 18.—A despatch from Warsaw received here states that the revolutionists and socialists are organizing an uprising in Russian Poland which is to take effect immediately after Russian interference in the Balkans. The promoters of the proposed revolution believe that the Czar's Government inevitably will take a hand in the Near Eastern tangle.

Several million copies of a manifesto urging the people to act have been circulated. The supposition is that intervention in the Balkans will lead to war with Austria, in which event the Polish people are urged to welcome the help of the Austrians and also to destroy the railways and the telegraph lines.

MARRIAGE OF PRINCESS VOID.

Jeanne Marie Louise de Bourbon Had No Registrar Present.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, Oct. 18.—Princess Jeanne Marie Louise de Bourbon was granted a decree nisi to-day nullifying her marriage to Prince Charles Albert de Bourbon, which took place in the Protestant church at Soho on March 29, 1910. The decree was granted on the ground that the marriage was void owing to the fact that no registrar was present at the ceremony, which took place behind closed doors.

The Princess deposed that when she arrived at the church she found her nephew present, but no registrar. A clergyman performed the ceremony, but he said it was not legally binding as no registrar was present. The minister gave her a certificate to the effect that a ceremony had been performed. The Princess said he would take the certificate to Austria and get the marriage resealed, but he did not do so.

The Princess testified further that the following autumn when she and the Prince were in Paris a lady came to the house who called herself the Princess de Bourbon and who said she was the wife of the Prince. He then went away with her.

11 MONTHS FOR CHILD MURDER.

Spanish Woman Who Made Alleged Love Philtrates Sentenced.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
BARCELONA, Oct. 18.—Enriqueta Martí, the woman who kidnapped six or more children, murdered them and made alleged love philtrates from their blood, was sentenced to-day to eleven months in prison. A small fine was also imposed.

Cables reaching New York from Barcelona last March stated that the woman was greatly agitated over the disappearance of several children. The police arrested a woman named Enriqueta Martí, aged 50, who, although married, was childless.

Investigation showed that the woman, with a number of accomplices, kidnapped the children and later murdered them, using the infantile blood for love philtrates.

One infant was rescued from the house of the woman and the body of another was found at the woman's former residence. The little girl who was rescued was called Angelita and she said that at one time she was made to eat the flesh of a child who had perished a short time before.

REBELS SEND GUNBOATS TO CAPTURE TAMPICO?

Diaz Uprising Said to Involve
All Southern and Eastern Mexico.

U. S. CRUISER ON THE WAY

Munitions of War Believed to Have Been Landed at Gulf Ports.

TAMPICO, Mex., Oct. 18.—There is much excitement here over reports circulated to-day that the two Mexican gunboats, the Bravo and Tampico, which were captured in the harbor of Vera Cruz and manned by a force of rebels, are on their way to Tampico for the purpose of capturing the city and port.

It is stated that a large rebel force is near the port of Tuxpan, midway between here and Vera Cruz.

The Diaz uprising is spreading all through the East coast territory. It is known that large cargoes of contraband arms and ammunition have been landed at different points on the Gulf coast during the last few months, and the plans of the revolution which Gen. Diaz has inaugurated involve all of southern and eastern Mexico.

CRUISER SENT TO TAMPICO.

Fear Diaz Revolution Will Spread to That Port.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The cruiser Tacoma was ordered this afternoon to proceed at once to Tampico, Mexico, following the receipt of reports that Gen. Diaz intended to attempt the capture of that port. The Tacoma is now at Bluefields, Nicaragua, and cannot reach Tampico for several days.

The cruiser Des Moines is supposed by now to be on her way to Vera Cruz to protect American interests there in case of necessity.

Communication with Vera Cruz has been so interrupted in the last twenty-four hours that practically no first hand news was received from there at the State Department to-day. It is not known what success the rebels under Diaz are having in holding the city against the Federals.

On the basis of reports received from the Government at Mexico city Señor de la Cueva, Charge d'Affaires at the Mexican Embassy, gave out a statement to-day on the new rebellion as follows:

"There is much exaggeration in the news from Vera Cruz. Only a portion of the State garrison mutinied, the field forces in the city of Vera Cruz, gunboats in the harbor and the fortress of San Juan de Ulua remaining loyal. Forces have already left Mexico city in sufficient numbers to crush this movement, which has not been seconded by the people of the State of Vera Cruz, who are prosperous and law abiding. Felix Diaz has no prestige in the army, has never fought, and owes much of his rank of Brigadier-General solely to his services as chief of police of Mexico city and not to any military achievements."
